

Product Instruction

1. About Our Store

Welcome to our store! We specialize in high-quality electronic components and accessories, all items go through strict quality inspection before dispatch. We have abundant supply resources, diversified items and steady stock. Our customer service is available during working hours to assist with pre-order inquiries, usage troubles and after-sales problems. We stick to stable quality and considerate service to guarantee satisfying purchasing experience for every customer.

2. Product Introduction

Due to various specifications, multiple versions and different batch parameters of our products, the detailed product specification, size, electrical parameter, compatible model, installation steps and operation usage methods are not listed in this manual.

3. Consultation Notice

For detailed product parameters, detailed usage tutorials, installation guidance, matching compatibility problems, please contact our online customer service directly via store chat. Our service staff will reply promptly and provide accurate information according to your required product model.

4. Warm Tips

Please confirm product parameters with customer service before purchasing to avoid wrong purchase caused by parameter mismatch;
If you encounter abnormal problems during product use, please take photos and contact customer service first for troubleshooting guidance;
All after-sales related issues are supported via official store customer service communication.